How will EVs affect F&I?

With electric vehicles gaining in popularity, dealers are beginning to think outside the box and create plans to maintain profitability, service revenue, and retention in the F&I office. Technology training and redirecting focus on non-powertrain systems are only a couple areas of focus. In the article attached from AutoDealerTodayMagazine.com you will see a more in-depth focus and perspective is provided on how EV's will affect F&I.
